	September 19	Sailed from London on the 'SS Otranto' (Orient Line) bound for Melbourne, Australia, via the Suez Canal, Aden, Colombo( Ceylon) and Australian ports. Travel time likely to be 35 days.	'Golf Illustrated' article of October 1 1926; Guildhall Libraries, Aldermanbury, London
	Date not known	'Otranto' berthed at Port Said, Egypt and Mackenzie visited golf course.	'Golf Illustrated' article "Round the World on a Golf Tour" May 27 1927
	Date not known	'Otranto' berthed at Colombo, Ceylon for one day and Mackenzie visited the Colombo golf course. Received contact (either letter or telegram) from Royal Adelaide Golf Club concerning visiting the course when stopping over in Adelaide.	'Golf Illustrated' article "Round the World on a Golf Tour" May 27 1927
1926	October 19	'Otranto' berthed at Fremantle, Western Australia early on Tuesday October 19 and departed the same day around 6pm. According to article by "PAR" in the Melbourne newspaper 'The Sporting Globe', Mackenzie "looked at the Fremantle and Perth courses and was far from impressed". Mackenzie's own article in 'The Herald' of November 10 confirms he visited Fremantle	J. S. Battye Library of West Australian History, Perth; Australian Quarantine Service - National Archives of Australia; 'The Sporting Globe', Melbourne, October 27 1926; 'The Herald' Melbourne, November 10 1926 and Perth courses while in Perth (now Royal Fremantle and Royal Perth).

	October 23	'Otranto' berthed in Adelaide, South Australia on Saturday October 23, at approximately 8am according to 'The Advertiser' newspaper. Met at Outer Harbour by officials from Royal Adelaide Golf Club and driven to the course for an inspection. Promised to return around November 3 for detailed inspection. 'Otranto' departed later the same day around 6pm. 	October 25	'Otranto' berthed in Melbourne in the early hours of Monday October 25 and Mackenzie disembarked. Photographed on arrival by 'The Argus' newspaper and photo published in the next day's paper. Departed for Royal Melbourne and believed to have met Secretary and spent day in company of Mick Morcom inspecting the existing course and new land. Accommodated at the Club during his time in Melbourne.	Incoming Passenger List - National Archives of Australia; 'The Argus', Melbourne, October 26 1926; 'Sporting Globe', Melbourne, October 27 1926;
	October 26 - November 2	In Melbourne, Royal Melbourne and Metropolitan Golf Clubs, inspections and plans.	JL puts dates as follows: October 25-27 Royal Melbourne October 28-30 Metropolitan November 1-2 Sandringham GC However, these dates have not been able to be confirmed by NC
	November 3	Arrived Adelaide in the morning via overnight express train from Melbourne, for purposes of remodelling Royal Adelaide Golf Club. According to RAGC minutes he "spent four days in developing his plans for reconstructing the course. Dr. Mackenzie promised to send a rough plan to	'The Register', Adelaide, Thursday November 4 1926; Royal Adelaide Golf Club minutes of committee meeting on November 17 1926;

		us before he left Melbourne." Stayed at unknown hotel while in Adelaide, possibly the 'South Australian Hotel' on North Terrace.
	November 4, 5, 6	At Royal Adelaide for inspections. Undertook course inspections with Dr A Cudmore (RAGC Captain), Dr A Giles and Mr G Anstey (RAGC Secretary), with Mr H L Rymill (former RAGC secretary and golf course architect) also in attendance. Rymill later took Mackenzie for a quick visit to Rymill's new Kooyonga course, possibly on the way to taking him to his train.	'The Australasian', Melbourne, November 20 1926, information from H. L. Rymill
	November 6	Departed Adelaide for Melbourne by express train.	Date of departure from Adelaide not confirmed but most likely inferred from RAGC minutes
	November 6	Redlands CC. Southern California opens 18 hole course with additon of nine holes designed and constructed by Raymond Hornby He was given a set of clubs and a bag along with a trophy in his name. Course set to open on Nov. 26 th . No mention of Mackenzie or Hunter.	ST LA Times November 6, 1926
	November 7	Arrived Melbourne on Sunday morning from Adelaide.	Date of arrival back in Melbourne not confirmed but most likely inferred from RAGC minutes
	November 8	Mackenzie writes to Royal Sydney GC confirming his fee of 250 pounds for a full report and plans. He hoped to leave Melbourne in "two or three weeks time and will let you know the exact date later" .	Letter to RSGC held by the Club
	November 8-17	In Melbourne and Barwon Heads, inspections plans and reports for Kingston Heath,	JL puts dates as follows: November 8-10 Kingston Heath,

'The Age', Melbourne, Thursday November 25 1926 has a report from Flinders from Wednesday 24 November saying that " after spending two days in inspecting the links, he drew up a plan for the remodelling of the course. "
	Late November / early December	Mackenzie wrote letter appointing Alex Russell as his partner in Australasia.	JL says November 29 but letter is undated
	Late	Mackenzie submits his report and plans to	Victoria Golf Club Minutes of

	November / early December	the Victoria GC.	Meeting of December 2 1926 indicated "Report of Dr. Mackenzie and suggested bunkering and course alterations of the Cheltenham course together with plans of course and bunkering of various holes were received and adopted."
	Date not certain, possibly November 30 or December 2	Train to Sydney, some confusion about actual date of this train trip. Did he travel direct to Sydney or perhaps travel via Canberra with a stopover? This may explain the difference between the possible departure dates and his known arrival in Sydney on December 4.	JL has Mackenzie travelling on overnight train, departing November 30 and arriving December 1.  'The Brisbane Courier', Brisbane, Saturday November 27, suggests that "Dr. Mackenzie leaves Melbourne for Sydney on Tuesday, and remains there for about a week before coming on to Brisbane." That Tuesday was November 30.  'The Herald', Melbourne, Saturday December 4 1926, says Mackenzie "left Melbourne on Thursday for Sydney". That Thursday was December 2.  'The Brisbane Courier', Saturday December 11 1926 states "Before leaving Melbourne for Sydney last week, Dr. A. Mackenzie...".
	December 4	Arrived in Sydney and travelled to Royal Sydney Golf Club where he stayed for the duration of his time in Sydney.	'The Sydney Morning Herald', Monday December 6 has Mackenzie arriving in Sydney on Saturday December 4, "He has been asked by the Royal Sydney Golf Club, the Kensington Golf Club, the Pymble Golf Club and the N.S.W.

			Golf Club to inspect their courses and to give advice". The "Kensington" referred to is no doubt The Australian GC, which is located in the Sydney suburb of Kensington, while there is no record of Mackenzie having consulted to the Pymble GC during his time in Sydney.
	December 4 - 10	In Sydney, various inspections, reports and plans for Royal Sydney, The Australian and the NSW Golf Clubs.	JL puts dates to each as follows: December 1-3 Royal Sydney  December 4-7 The Australian  December 8 Report to Royal Sydney  December 9 Report to The Australian and inspection of NSW GC However, these dates have not been able to be confirmed by NC
